STREET RAILWAY MEN NOT IN FAVOR OF "STUDENT" RATES.

The Idea of Furnishing Transportation to School Children at Reduced Rates Deemed Distasteful to Local Street Railway Officials—Some Opinions.

It is customary in many cities for the various street car lines to give a reduced rate to school children, and a number of Kansas City parents have made requests that a similar rule be adopted here.

The electric cable covers the school territory more completely than any other city road, consequently it carries more scholars.

President Smith, of the Kansas City Cable company, was seen this morning. He did not make a public statement, but said:

"We estimate that it costs us from one-and-a-half cents to four cents to carry every passenger that travels over our line, and that is the principal reason for our not agreeing with any plan that could be proposed to enable school children to ride free. The street railroad company is it different; it costs them about 70 per cent of the amount they receive to carry a passenger, and they can afford to make reduced rates to excursions and franchises."

The scheme of giving reduced rates to students was tried when the San Francisco road was established, but it would not work. Tickets were given out, but it was impossible for the officials of the road to collect them again. The franchise was transferable, and soon nearly the entire population of the city was traveling as school children. The road company, however, could be persuaded to give this reduction if all the roads in the city should comply with the regulation.

President Morse of the Metropolitan Company did not seem disposed to adopt the system and made a ruling to the scholars. He said:

"It would be well to have children on every day. Even if we have children alone, we will not do so, because it is difficult to collect them when we have to pay for them."

The Metropolitan road is the only one that could be persuaded to give this reduction if all the roads in the city should comply with the regulation.

"Some time ago, when we running horse cars on the rail line," said President Holmes, of the Grand avenue cable company, "to-day we are giving this scheme of giving reduced rates to schools. Even at that time, when we did not carry as many passengers, the idea did not prove a success."

The Grand and Fifteenth street cable lines do not pass but one school building in the city, and there is no school of a school that we pass; therefore it would scarcely be necessary for us to adopt this rule.

We have a good many students who presented a ticket and claimed that he was a student what could we do? The suggestion is good, but we would prove an awful bane for the city railroads, and we for one will not favor any proposal from the railroads.

MR. HANSEN HAS DEPARTED.

Mysterious Disappearance of a Grand Avenue Jeweler—A Woman in the Case.

H. Fairfax Hansen, a single man, 32 years of age, and of modest appearance, has been reported missing since Saturday last at 1307 Grand avenue in charge of Sheriff Hickman, Hansen had been running the stores for a year. Late yesterday afternoon J. H. Barr Co., "Uncle" and Clarence C. Pond, the two partners in the business, came to the store, and informed Hansen that he was missing.

"I am sorry to say that he is in the back part of the store. He was a man who spent a good deal of money, and claims were presented to him when he left the store.

To M. E. Henderson for a frame business house at the corner of Second and Main streets, Miscellaneous permits amounting to $1,700.

PLOW WORKS COMING.

The Representative of a Large Eastern Firm Looking for a Location.

Mr. E. Switzer, a representative of Ault, Martin, & Co., manufacturer, of Canton, Ohio, is in the city looking for a site for the location of a garment factory.

The firm of Aultman, Miller & Co. is one of the largest plow manufacturers in the country; its works at Canton, O., employ 1,500 men. The increasing western business of the firm having made it necessary to the works necessary, it was decided to build in the west instead of enlarging the capacity of the home workers. The proposed factory will employ about 200 men at the start, and will be increased to 1,000 men as soon as possible.

A handsome young woman, a domestic for a family living at the corner of Fifteenth and Locust streets, was found dead in her room last night. She was a widow, and he often gave her presents. He seemed infatuated with her. Sunday night they had a quarrel, and he left the house. At 10 o'clock he could be found in the store on Main street, on Monday morning. He slept as usual in the store, and was found dead in his room at 10 o'clock. I am going down town with my back in no hour. Then he left and I have neither seen nor heard of him since.

Lorenard continued selling jewelry in the store until about 6 o'clock last evening when he was arrested by the police, this morning. Thiefs were committed in all parts of the city, and the conclusion is that Kansas City is the eve of an epidemic of burglaries. There is over with the light-fingered gentry even the police admit.

Jesse Campbell reported that a middle-aged man broke into his room at 1224 Walnut street and decamped with a suit of clothes, value of about $100.

A woman's gold watch was stolen in the Washington school house from Miss Edith Webster, while she was in class. The value of the watch is estimated at $2,000, but does not know the name of the thief.

C. T. Clegg, to-day brought an attachment suit against Hansen to satisfy a claim of $2,000.

OVERRUN WITH THIEVES.

Unusually Full This Fall.

Thieves made great hauls last night, as evidenced by the number of robberies reported to the police, this morning. Thiefs were committed in all parts of the city, and the conclusion is that Kansas City is the eve of an epidemic of burglaries. There is over with the light-fingered gentry even the police admit.

DR. FINE'S WAS SATISFACTORY.

John Riley, Abe Dean and Robert Boyle were at Dr. Fine's office this morning for an examination by Dr. H. H. Holt.

"The doctor can't you make it any more?" said Abe Dean.

"Your fine will be increased to $500."

"Yes, I guess that will be enough for you?"

"Yes, I am $100 enough for you?"

"I am $100 enough for you?"

The trio were then taken down stairs and will be sent to the workhouse this afternoon.

THE ST. PAUL SNOBERRY.

Something About the Lady Who is the Victim of an Unparalleled Snub.

At St. Paul, Minn., one of the features of President's visit was the reception of 150 members of the board of directors of the committee. United States Senator C. K. Davis was among the first invited upon.

When the wives of the remaining members were asked if they would be invited to the reception, it was suggested that they be invited to the reception of the Thirteenth regiment which Mr. Beecher was chaplain, and many prominent city officials and armymen. Mrs. Beecher, with a party of friends, accepted.

The box offices and tickets have been placed in the hands of the agents of the First Division, and the official programme decided upon at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn last night. He was introduced by Dr. George H. Hall, who read a speech in behalf of the President when the second division swing into line at the corner of Michigan avenue and Twenty-third street. Down Twenty-third street, Wabash avenue and Twenty-fifth street the people marched in review. On the top of houses and in windows were crowds of eager faces and from the roofs and dashes floated streamers evidently improvised hurriedly for the occasion.

Down Twenty-second street where the procession had been held, the marchers were to be seen again, and the band playing the national anthem.

The door-keepers have been instructed to take up a collection for the benefit of the First Division.

A woman in Philadelphia died because of tight lacing. Still the lacing will go on. A little thing like the death of one woman will not deter fashionables from following the dictates of fashion.

F. ALDRICH, Esq., CLEVELAND, divides the honors with the President. The pleasing public will be glad to hear that he must be very grateful to His Excellency. Her popularity has been based upon the people until they kindly regard her as a large part of the national family.

The Journal has provided itself with a new dress throughout, and has removed to the new Journal Building at the corner of Tenth and Walnut streets. Its new home is substantial and elegantly fitted up for newspaper business, and the Journal may be congratulated on possessing probably the most complete newspaper office in the West.

HUNRY BISHOP, the wealthy Chicagoan who is going to give $250,000 for the purpose of founding a training school for nurses, is not spending money in vain. There ought to be such an institution in every large city and perhaps in every country in the Union where one could be maintained. In sickness good nursing is an important part of the treatment of the patient. Competent nurses are about as essential as capable physicians. Kansas City has three medical colleges. It ought, at least, to have one training school for nurses.

It is said that Spain is preparing for war with Mexico. Spain has dwindled in power until a weak republic like Mexico is about all it can handle. Spain is an example of how a poor government can even emasculate a proud and great people occupying a rich country. It is not likely that Spain will go to war with Mexico but in the event of war the sympathies of the United States will be with the sister republic to the south. Spain will hardly dare to follow in the footsteps of the unfortunate MAXIMILIAN.

In the election, if an election it may be called, for freeholders to form a new city charter there were less than a thousand votes cast. If this apathy indicates anything it is that the people are reasonably well satisfied with the charter which they have and do not care to disturb it. The outlook now is that the present charter will remain as the fundamental law of the city for some time, and it is certain that the city must wait for nearly two years before it can get any state law affecting it one way or the other.

In Chicago the fireworks display on the occasion of the President's visit will be managed by a "London syndicate." The negotiations in the future to take an MONEY street in American politics. The English residents of the large cities are taking out their naturalization papers and will be ready to vote. In what a dilemma the advent of the English into politics in this country will place the demagogue! How can he "harmonize" himself to both the Irish and English? But he will probably be equal to the situation as it is a large part of the trade of the demagogue to be at the same time all things to all people.

The farmers as well as the trades are learning to combine and organize. The Farmers' National Alliance is in session at Minneapolis. It is in the most flourishing condition, claiming to have fully 1,000,000 of members. The Alliance has the numerical strength to make itself felt for against any state or national policy in which it may take an interest.

The farmers ought to see that one of their greatest enemies is the robber tariff. They are not protected on what they produce, but they pay tribute to the tariff on nearly every article they buy. Self-interest as well as common fairness ought to make the farmers free traders. A scheme is on foot to unite for political purposes the Knights of Labor and the Farmers' Alliance. If they unite and concerted action could be secured so as to hold them together they would form a power which politicians would be compelled to consider and respect.

BRITISH evictors are represented as at work in Iowa. The cruelities practiced there are akin to those inflicted upon the Irish in Ireland. A British syndicate holds the title, or rather the right, to certain lands in the state of Iowa. People have settled on these lands under the impression that they could buy them of the railroads that owned them. In the meantime a syndicate of English capitalists buy the land and proceed to forcibly eject the settlers. These British sharks, perhaps, have not heard of the redress of grievances.

"Well, we have plenty of good men. There is General Fink of New Jersey," says Mr. WARREN MILLER, case. They may learn to fit it later on when the Iowa people bring their case before the next Congress. Then your nator INGALLS will be given another chance, "tunily to twist the tail of the British any day."

The story that comes from Iowa is terrible, with distress and distressing that it suggests. Can it be true? English Kansas City, the past, however, testifies that France has been told may be true.

Different Methods.

From the Washington Critic.

"Do you know," said a dignified looking man, "that I never tasted whisky?"

"No," was the reply. "I know lots of fellers that duly git down quick that way, but we always could git more enjoyment out of it by letting it go slow, unless it's clear pants."

Rudolph made an address of welcome.

Vienna is not noted for its cleanliness, but is improving as the prince is a sanitary reformer. In his address of welcome he said: "Man is the nation's most precious capital. Every human life represents a fixed value, which humanity demands should be preserved and maintained intact as long as possible. Individuals are powerless against hurtful influences surrounding everybody, and common action alone is sufficient for the purpose of protection; and this scientific hygiene, assisted by democracy, would every school, every town's production, every village's trade, all industries and all war measures."

Sanitary reforms have been slow to come, but the world at last is waking up to their importance. As they are adopted and enforced they will make good the old health maxim: "Prevention is better than cure." An international sanitary congress is an institution in which the world may well afford to take some interest. It is in the interest of good health and health promotes happiness, industry and wealth.

Last night Dr. PARKER, of London, gave his oration on HENRY WARD BREWER at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn. It was thoughtful and eloquent. Referring to the United States, he said: "Your's are the vital and noble conditions which make HENRY WARD BREWER possible. Henry Ward Brecher never could have been in Europe what he was in America. You gave him scope you created opportunities for him; your schools multiplied his influence, while people applauded and consolidated his independence." And in speaking of the great Plymouth orator's sermons he said: "Mr. BREWER's discourses were unique in their intellectual range, though not free from a certain monotony of form. Other men have occasional power, now and again they can show high and work miracles in thought and eloquence; some invisible moon brings up the tide of mental energy; they make supreme efforts and suffer days after in consequence of unusual expenditure of force; they thus amaze themselves and amaze others, and are pensive inquired about as men who are hardly expected to recover from their infinite fatigues. Mr. BREWER was great without toil, mighty without exhaustion, and so redundant were his pupil miracles that they were in danger being treated as commonplace." The applause which the oration elicited would indicate that it gave satisfaction to the audience present.

How "Billy Bowlegs" saved His Bacon—A Tale of the Dark Days.

From the Detroit Free Press.

Complaints of the difficulty of obtaining suitable domestic service are not confined to this country, but have now become equally loud and frequent in England. There as here, a strong prejudice against such service has grown up among working people, so that at present, according to a recent issue of the London Times, "among the servants of the middle classes, the number of maid-servants employed is at a standstill."

TO-MORROW: Cooler, fair weather: frost to brick northwesterly winds.

Does it bewilder you to see this flurry in prices? Maybe you think the bottom is falling from the whole Dry Goods market; not a bit of it. There's a dropping of prices in instances where the Eastern importers and dealers needed supplies. He sacrificed goods wished at money to meet his obligations. We had the money, and that gave wanted it and put a price on it. It was merchandise that warried us in buying and now glass the letting it out to you at as much as one per cent above this cash as we can afford.

It does seem like a hurricane on now, sure enough. Certain it is that everybody is saying: "This is the time to buy Dry Goods." Guess it is the time.

We got these goods cheap and save some instances even though some are worth so much more sparsely than we are now re-stocked. We are here to sell goods.

If this tightness in the Eastern money markets put prices down to get the ready cash, it's our duty to give you the advantage.

To-day's Bulletin of prices may interest you. It treats of Ribbons bought at HALF the former price; of Stamped Linens, bought at auction, early part of September, that look to us very cheap; of Dress Goods at 39½¢, a bargain when they were 75¢, and now sold almost for half. It treats of a lot of Nonpareil Colored Velveteens at 39¢ that don't more than cover half the cost of the cheapest in the line. It tells the price of the Down Comforts at a price which the mill claims to be less than the cost of making last year.

These, and kindred bargains end this list to-day treats of. There's a reason for everyone of these prices. We told you of the coming of these goods; HOW BOUGHT, why bought. It now remains with you whether you shall take advantage of the advantages we secured for you.
